

Share Draft & Overdraft Policy

Progressions CU

Discretionary Overdraft Privilege Disclosure

It is the policy of Progressions CU to comply with all applicable laws and regulations and to conduct business in accordance with applicable safety and soundness standards.

The Share Draft Account Agreement and Disclosure provided to you at the time you opened your account with us controls the duties, obligations and rights of the Depositor, the Authorized Signatories and Progressions CU with regard to your checking account. The Share Draft Account Agreement (and all amendments thereto) and its terms shall control any possible conflict, if any, between any provision of this Discretionary Overdraft Privilege Disclosure and the Share Draft Account Agreement and Disclosure. A copy of the Share Draft Account Agreement and Disclosure is available to you on request from your Progressions CU officer.

The Overdraft Privilege is not a line of credit. However, if you inadvertently overdraw your account, we will have the discretion to pay the overdraft, subject to the limit of your Overdraft Privilege and the amount of the overdraft fee. Progressions CU is not obligated to pay any item presented for payment if your account does not contain sufficient available funds. Any discretionary payment by Progressions CU of an overdraft check (or item, such as an ATM withdrawal) does not obligate Progressions CU to pay any other overdraft check (or item), or to provide prior notice of its decision to refuse to pay such check (or item).

Pursuant to Progressions CU's commitment to always provide you with the best level of service, now and in the future, if you maintain your consumer or business checking account in good standing, which includes at least:

- A) Bringing your account to a positive balance within every thirty five (35) day period for a minimum period of 24 hours;
- B) Not being in default on any loan or other obligation to Progressions CU, and
- C) Not being subject to any legal or administrative order or levy,

Progressions CU will have the discretion to pay overdrafts within the Overdraft Privilege limit, but payment by Progressions CU is a discretionary courtesy and not a right of the member or an obligation of Progressions CU. This privilege for consumer checking accounts will generally be limited to a maximum of $500 overdraft (negative) balance. This privilege for consumer accounts with direct deposit will be limited to a maximum of $750 overdraft (negative) balance. The privilege for business checking accounts will be limited to a maximum of $750. Of course, any and all fees and charges, including without limitation the non-sufficient funds fees (as set forth in our fee schedules and Share Draft account agreement and disclosure), will be included as part of this maximum amount. It may be possible that your account will become overdrawn in excess of the Overdraft Privilege amount as a result of the assessment of a fee.

The total of the discretionary Overdraft Privilege (negative) balance, which includes any and all fees and charges, including all non-sufficient funds/overdraft fees is due and payable upon demand, and Depositor and each Authorized Signatory will continue to be liable, jointly and severally, for all such amounts, as described in the Share Draft Account Agreement and Disclosure. Our standard Overdraft fee of $30 will be imposed for overdrafts created by checks, ACH, ATM withdrawals, everyday debit card transactions, in-person withdrawals, or by other electronic means. Transactions may not be processed in the order in which they occurred, and the order in which transactions are received and processed may impact the total amount of fees incurred.

While Progressions CU will have the discretion to pay overdrafts on accounts in good standing (as described above), any such payment is a discretionary courtesy, and not a right of the member or an obligation of Progressions CU and Progressions CU in its sole and absolute discretion, can cease paying overdrafts at any time without prior notice of reason or cause.

For our consumer members Progressions CU will not pay overdrafts for ATM or everyday debit card transactions unless Progressions CU has provided you with the notice required by section 205.17(b) of Regulation E and you have opted in to the payment of these overdrafts. In order to avoid overdrafts due to ATM and everyday debit card transactions, Progressions CU will place a hold on your account for any ATM or everyday debit card transaction authorized until the transaction settles. ATM and everyday debit card transactions usually settle within two business days after the transaction is authorized. The amount of the hold will be for the amount authorized, or as permitted under applicable payment network rules. Holds on authorized ATM and everyday debit card transactions will be removed prior to settlement where required by applicable payment network rules.

Both consumer and business account holders may opt out of the Overdraft Privilege services for check, ACH and debit card bill payment transactions at any time by contacting one of our Financial Solutions Representatives.